For asmuche, as God whiche is the beginning of all Creatures, (good gentyle reader) hath made man to his own similytude and lykenes, wherby he is almost comparable to the holy Aungels of god, who is it then, that wyll denye that man maye by the disposition of the starres, prognosticate thinges to come, as (Berolus Chaldeus wryteth that holy Noe did vnto Armenians and Sethians after the vniuersal deluge or floude, wherfore they called him the partaker of the mynde of God. Moreouer S. Hierome, wryteth, that what soeuer can be comprehended with humayne vnderstanding is ruled by the wheles of the Sunne. Wherefore in asmuche as bothe the dyuine, and the Prince of Philosophers, Aristotle in his booke (de generatione, et corruptione) confesseth that (propter accessum, et recessum solis in circulo obliquo fiunt generationes, et corrupsiones in mundo sublunari.) It foloweth that knowynge the disposicion of the celestial bodies, by the whiche all elementate bodyes be ruled, that we men maye by the science of Astronimy (whiche scy-

¶ Of thinfirmities that shalbe this presente yeare.

FIrst Mercuri Lord of the house of diseases, in the fyrst beginnig of the fyrst quarter, beyng in the sygne of Pisces his fal, and in the second cadent from the ascendent, signifyeth that men shal haue infirmities in their shynne boꝛ nes, secrete places, and Belies, and these diseases shall happen most vpon boyes, and olde women about the age of. lx. and vpon the learned sort of men also. Iu= piter lord of the house of infirmities di= rect, and in the ascendent of the seconde quarter of the yere, signifieth that ther shalbe no infirmities in that quarter, but peynes in the yies of men, and about theyr knees also, which diseases shal hap pen most vpon noble men, and vpō youre noble maidens also. Moreouer Satur= nus

pus, beyng Lorde of the house of infyr-mities, in the thirde quarter, and impe-dite in Aries, and in the ninth house sig-nifyeth there shalbe quarterne agues, which shalbe great, and reumes stylynge out of mennes heddes into theyr Ligh-tes, and trembling of Sinewes, and pey-nes in theyr knees, and yies, through cor-rupte blonde, because of Mars in the sygne of Mars. Finally, Venus in the fourth quarter, is figured Ladye of the fyrste house, beyng in Sagittarius in the ascendent also, signifyeth that men shal haue no infirmities, but such as happen throughe surfettes of drinking, and im-moderate venerous actes.

Of warres, and contencions.

Mars in a humain signe in the .viii. house, sygnifyeth that mortall war shal happen amongest men, and the more because of his retrogrado-cion this euyl effect, and disposition shal be more vehement, and this shal appeare more in the Southe partes, and in the Easte partes, then in any other places.

Mars also in the second quarter of the yeare aforesayd, and in the .xxvii. of Virgo in the .xii. house, the house of enemies signifyeth warre and bloudshed, Mars in the sygne of Scorpio, and in the .iiii. house of the heauens, signifyeth that many shalbe slayne with the sweard, and that in the .iii. quarter of the yere aforesayd. Finally Mars in the .iiii. quarter, and in the reuolucion therof in the seconde house, the house of substaūce, signifieth that there shalbe great spoyle of the ignoble people by sodiours, and men of war, because he is in Aquari, whyche sygne is the fall of the Sunne, and the house of cloudy Saturne, which planet signifyeth diggers, and deluers of the yearth, and such ignoble people, and persons.

¶ Of Cattall, and all other thynges, whiche serue for victualles, as wheat, barley, beanes, and suche lyke.

FIrst Mars beyng Lord of the .viii. house impedite, syngnifyeth that in the fyrst quarter of the yere aforesayd shepe shall dye much, and in the second seconde quarter also. Moreouer in the third quarter.
